Subject: 2011 Biennial Report for Information Technology

The Montana Information Technology Act (MITA) requires that the Department of Administration prepare a biennial report containing an assessment of the state's information technology (IT) infrastructure, an evaluation of its IT performance, and an assessment of progress in achieving the goals and objectives described in the State Strategic IT Plan. The current biennial report evaluates the state's progress towards the Strategic Plan for Information Technology 2008, which is available electronically on the Internet at <http://itsd.mt.gov/stratplan/statewide/default.mcp.x>.

The entire 2011 Biennial Report for Information Technology is available online at <http://itsd.mt.gov/stratplan/biennialreports.mcp.x> where you can also download an electronic version of the report. I invite you to review the document and learn how information technology is working for the citizens of the State of Montana.
